July General Meeting Minutes

President Rick Keasey called the meeting to order at 7:00 pm on 16 July 2019. There were 19 attendees, including three guests: Joe Badalementi, a first timer; repeat visitor Carl Spalinger; and Caleb Duttlinger's mother Amy Heisler.

Keasey asked for a head count of members attending next month's IPMS/USA National Convention in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Eight members raised their hands. He also asked for a head count of members bringing models for the display-only table there, and three members said they would. Three tables would be allocated to our display, Keasey said.

Secretary Bob Delaney, Editor of The Arch Scaler News, was congratulated on being awarded the IPMS/USA Region 5 Newsletter of the Year Award, which Delaney brought to the meeting.

In Show & Tell: Dennis Bowman brought in his 1:48 carrier flight deck diorama of a Tamiya F4U Corsair and a Pro Modeler SB2C Helldiver. Albert White spoke for him. Visitor Joe Badalementi showed off his radio controlled fast electric boat model.

After these announcements, Slam Fest began. Members had two hours to assemble and finish a kit.

Vice President Bill Wagner said kit donations are sought for the raffle at our Invitational in September. Chris Merseal brought in some sanding sticks for us to hand out to first-time visitors, which Wagner did. Merseal said he's sold 16 vendor tables for the show, with two more reserved. A total of 47 tables are available for vendors.

Salm Fest building ended at 9:00 pm, and voting began on the five models completed. Each member was asked to write the entry numbers of the three best models 18 members attending were joined by one first-time guest: Carl Spalinger, who has been to our shows.

Salm Fest building ended at 9:00 pm, and voting began on the five models completed. Each member was asked to write the entry numbers of the three best models and to turn them into the main table. Caleb Duttlinger's F-15 Eagle was the stop vote getter. There was a tie for second place between Scott Allen's "Star Wars" TIE Fighter and Bill Wagner's "Star Wars" A-Wing Fighter. These three members will receive gift certificates at the August meeting. (The other two completed models were Rick Keasey's C-121E Constellation and Bob Delaney's M.B. 326.)

Keasey adjourned the meeting at 9:06 pm.

President's Blurbs

Wow! What a show. It had over 900 participants, 1,600 models, and vendors out the wazoo. I'm exhausted and penniless. If you have never been to an IPMS National Convention, do yourself a favor and go. Next year's convention will be in San Marcos, Texas, which is a little north of San Antonio and a 13-hour drive (for me), but well worth it. Moreover, I would like to congratulate Caleb Duttlinger for bringing home a First Place Award at his very first national competition. Wow! Great job! Hopefully this is only the first of many for this burgeoning master modeler.

The August meeting features our annual judging seminar. I encourage everyone to go to our contest and try judging. Everyone I know who has ever judged says, "Wow, I learned a lot," and if there's one thing 30 years of military service taught me is: He who knows the rules the best, usually wins the game. So, what do you have to lose? Learn the rules and how to judge, and you just might bring home that First Place award from the next contest.

Happy model building!

Rick Keasey

Editor's Notebook

It was quite a show in Chattanooga for this year's IPMS/USA National Convention. Yours truly arrived there on the opening day—Wednesday, 7 August—at the Chattanooga Convention Center. The was the first time the Nationals were held in this Tennessee city. Besides I, we were represented there by Rick Keasey, Marion Morris, Jim Triola, Jim Victor, Chris Merseal, Mike Brickman, Doug Barton, Caleb Duttlinger, Don Will, and Kevin Krajniak.

There were plenty of models in the model room. The official figures were 3112 contest entries and 1675 display only and “Blast from the Past” (previous Nationals winners) models. The vendor room had plenty of action.

I took the tour of the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, Alabama, which greatly impressed this spaceflight geek. There were plenty of seminars to choose from in Chattanooga, with start times staggered in 15-minute intervals. This relieved congestion and eased “room hopping” if you wanted to get out of one seminar to attend another. I did take in one on Saturday, 10 August by former IPMS/Gateway member Mike Mackowski on Gemini spacecraft he's modeled that either saw service or were proposed but not developed. An informative seminar as usual from Mike.

I took in the IPMS/USA Business Meeting on Saturday morning. Overall, the Society is in good shape with membership at 4045 (up from 3951 the year before), and 230 chapters (up 10 from 2018).

Also, on Saturday morning, bids for the 2021 and 2022 Nationals were made by Omaha and Las Vegas, with the E-Board then meeting privately to decide among them.

Yours truly had a meeting with Jim Coatney, Regional Coordinator of Region 5 (our region), and Dave Lockhart, IPMS/USA Director of Local Chapters. We agreed on a proposal to split Region 5 (with its 37 chapters) into two regions. The northern tier (21 chapters in northern Illinois, northwest Indiana, Minnesota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin) would remain as Region 5, with Coatney as RC. The lower tier (16 chapters in Iowa, central and southern Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska) would become Region 14, with me as RC. As of press time, this proposal has not been confirmed by the IPMS/USA E-Board.

Instead of the usual closing night banquet, Chattanooga opted for a dessert reception before the closing ceremony and awards announcements. This was intended to be cheaper than the banquet, although there were some grumblings about the dessert items running out sooner.

The ceremony began with thanks from Convention Chairman Mike Moore to his staff and all who attended. There were 961 registrants; I don't have figures for general admission. After remarks from IPMS/USA President Ron Bell, a representative from IPMS/Argentina invited us to a South American show they are hosting in November 2021 and presented awards to three modelers.

Lockhart then presented the Chapter Awards: RC-6 Sean Glaspell (Southwest Region) for Regional Coordinator, IPMS/Livonia in Michigan for Website, IPMS/Orange County in California for Newsletter, IPMS/Grand Strand Scale Modelers in South Carolina for Chapter, and Rob Boothe of IPMS/Tex Hill for Member.

Len Pilhofer, Chairman of the 2020 Nationals in San Marcos, Texas (29 July—1 August), made a presentation for his event. Their group had a table with info on their show and area throughout the Convention. Bell then announced that the 2021 Nationals will go to Las Vegas, with Omaha hosting in 2021.

With that out of the way, Aris Pappas and Bill Devins then announced the model contest results. They presented the winners by category, with images of the models displayed on the video screens. I was so happy that Caleb Duttlinger, Rick Keasey, and Doug Barton came away with awards. Congratulations to them all. (I would like to ask Caleb, Rick, and Doug to please bring their award-winning models and awards to the meeting.)

Everyone converged on the model room soon after the ceremony ended to remove their models and start their way home. I packed up my models and began driving home—arriving in Mehlville early Sunday morning. Overall, with just a few quibbles, it was a fine effort by Chattanooga.

Hope to see you at the meeting. Besides a recap from Chattanooga, we'll have a contest judging seminar, ahead of our Invitational next month. Learn what judges look for in contest entries, which would help make you a better modeler. (Plus, we'll need some judges at our show.) Plus, we'll have a sign-up sheet for our Picnic the day after our show. The club will provide meat, buns, and drinks; you provide the sides. Please indicate how many in your party and what you will bring.

Happy modeling!

Bob Delaney
